ON OUR COVER...

"Lender and Auguez in 'The Song of Fortune'", a lithograph executed by Frenchman Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec (1864-1901) in 1895. Lautrec is famed for his portrayals of the late-19th century Paris he knew intimately --- the cafes in Montmartre, the dance halls, the theaters. This particular lithograph has been in The Cleveland Museum of Art print collection since 1925, a gift of Ralph King.
